Operations and Finance Director, SAL Early Childhood Education

I am the Operations and Finance Director for the Stanford Center on Early Childhood in the Graduate School of Education. I have worked in higher education research administration since 2013, starting at the University of Oregon as a Business Manager at the Center on Brain Injury Research and Training, and moving into the role of Assistant Director of Finance and Administration at the Center for Translational Neuroscience. Prior to my experience at the U of O, I worked for nine years in grants management and research administration at a small SBIR-funded company in Eugene, OR.
