

Nymisha Chilukuri

- Affiliate, Department Funds
- Fellow in Graduate Medical Education

Bio

BIO

Nymisha Chilukuri is a clinical informatics fellow and a pediatric physician at Stanford Medicine. She completed her medical school, pediatric residency and fellowship training in General Academic Pediatrics at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, during which time she was an Armstrong Institute Patient Safety and Quality Scholar.

Her operational and research interests are to use clinical informatics to improve access to equitable care for children with chronic conditions in underserved communities.

CLINICAL FOCUS

- Pediatrics
- Fellow