

Julie Flores-Alvarado

Project Mgr 1 - General, Industry Relations

Bio

---

BIO

Julie has a B.S. in Molecular Biology and a Master's in Healthcare Administration. She entered the health care field in 2016 as a medical scribe, working over the years in emergency medicine, oncology/hematology, and outpatient radiology. Her first post-college job was at Stanford Health Care's South Bay Cancer Center working with the Director of Education and Research. She completed a graduate internship within the Project Management Office at Stanford Health Care Tri-Valley, where she gained experience collaborating with executive and senior leadership on various strategic and operational initiatives. Currently, she is serving as a Project Manager as part of the Stanford Medicine Industry Relations team, supporting internal operations and projects. She is also the Project Manager supporting the facilitation of the Secondary Data Use Review Committee for Stanford Medicine.

CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

Project Manager 1 - General, Industry Relations