

Stanford

David Dai

Masters Student in Computer Science, admitted Autumn 2022

Bio

BIO

I am a masters student at Stanford University majoring in Computer Science. I am currently in Stanford SVL and Partnership in AI-Assisted Care (PAC) Lab supervised by Dr. Fei-Fei Li and Dr. Ehsan Adeli.

Before joining Stanford, I graduated with the highest honor in Computer Science and Math from Emory University. I was in the Emory Brain Network Lab under the supervision of Dr. Carl Yang working on graph mining in the area of healthcare.

My research interests lie in computer vision, graph learning, bioinformatics, AI in healthcare, interpretation, and explainability.

LINKS

- Profile: <https://dd.works>