

Stanford

Zach Haines

Ph.D. Student in Music, admitted Autumn 2022

Bio

BIO

Zachary Haines is a PhD student in Musicology at Stanford University. He is both an active scholar and performer as a baritone, with research interests in the vocal repertoires of the late Renaissance and early Baroque.

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Departmental Award, Outstanding Graduate in Early Music Performance, University of Southern California (06/2022)
- Ensemble Award, Collegium Musicum, University of Southern California (06/2022)

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS AND ACTIVITIES

- Member, Early Music America (2020 - present)
- Member, American Musicological Society (2022 - present)

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- MA, University of Southern California , Early Music Performance (2022)
- BM, California State University, Long Beach , Choral-Vocal Music Education (2018)
- AA, Cypress College , Music (2015)
- AA, Cypress College , Liberal Arts - Arts and Humanities (2015)
- AA, Cypress College , Liberal Arts - Behavioral and Social Sciences (2015)