Stanford

Josh Shiode

Managing Director, KIPAC

Bio

BIO

Josh Shiode is Managing Director of the Kavli Institute for Particle Astrophysics and Cosmology (KIPAC), a joint institute of Stanford University and the SLAC National Laboratory. Prior to joining KIPAC, Josh served as Senior Advisor and Chief of Staff in the U.S. Department of Energy Office of Science, under the leadership of then Director Asmeret Asefaw Berhe. Josh received his PhD in astrophysics from UC Berkeley in 2013, and subsequently worked in a variety of science and technology policy roles in Washington, DC, including with the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.