Stanford

Sakti Subramanian

- Research Assistant, Bioengineering
- Undergraduate, Bioengineering

Bio

BIO

Sakti Subramanian is an undergraduate student at Stanford University studying Biological Engineering. He is dedicated to the growth of the field of synthetic biology, whether that be by solving research problems, educating the next generation of scientists, or authoring policy recommendations for the US bioeconomy.