Stanford

Yuva Karthik Krishnapillai B.S.

Affiliate, Multispecialty Anesthesiology

Bio

BIO

Yuva Krishnapillai is a current research scholar affiliated with the Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine at Stanford University. His focus of study revolves around perioperative neuroscience, EEG-defined brain states, and immediate and long-term cognitive change with the goal of improving cognitive and functional outcomes after surgery. Krishnapillai is involved in numerous prospective and retrospective research investigations examining perioperative outcomes and is involved in collaborative work with UC Riverside School of Medicine and UC San Francisco School of Medicine.