Stanford

Tim Joehnk

Affiliate, Medicine - Med/Stanford Prevention Research Center

Bio

BIO

Tim Joehnk works at the intersection of innovation, partnerships, and real-world application, with a focus on health, life sciences, and regulated industries. His work centers on connecting ideas with the environments in which they can take shape, bringing together perspectives from academia, industry, and entrepreneurship. At Stanford, he works with Emergence, a program that supports the development of early ideas into meaningful applications through collaboration and practical exploration.