Stanford

Charlotte Megan Brass

Postdoctoral Scholar, Neurosurgery

Bio

BIO

Charlotte Brass is a Postdoctoral Research Scholar investigating the biomechanics of the brain's response to physical trauma. Methods include building computational mechanical (finite element) models and using neuroimaging techniques (structural and diffusion MRI) to look at time history of deformation and the associated effect on tissue integrity.

STANFORD ADVISORS

- Ashwin Ramayya, Postdoctoral Faculty Sponsor