

Stanford

Jennifer Mason

Associate Director, Strategy & Curricular Support, Graduate School of Business -
MBA Program Office

Bio

BIO

Jennifer has close to 20 years of higher education administration experience at Stanford University, UC Berkeley, and UC Santa Barbara. Jennifer has an MA in Education-Higher Education Administration from San Jose State University and a BA in Law & Society with a Minor in Anthropology from UC Santa Barbara. During her senior year at UC Santa Barbara, Jennifer was lucky enough to sail around the world and visit 10 countries in 100 days with the Semester at Sea program. In her spare time, Jennifer enjoys hiking, traveling, baking, and volunteering at the Peninsula Humane Society & SPCA and at Pound Puppy Rescue.

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Dean's Award for Distinguished & Exemplary Service, School of Earth, Energy & Environmental Sciences, Stanford University (June 2016)
- Dean's Award of Merit, School of Humanities & Sciences, Stanford University (May 2007)
- Student Services Award, Department of Biology, Stanford University (June 2005)

Professional

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS AND ACTIVITIES

- Panelist, Office of Community Standards, Stanford University (2008 - present)
- Member, National Association of Colleges and Employers (2017 - 2019)
- Member, National Association of Graduate Admissions Professionals (2012 - 2017)

Publications

PRESENTATIONS

- VPGE Quick Bytes: Top Tips for Master's Students - Stanford University (October 10, 2018)
- Networking & Informational Interviewing - Graduate School of Education, Stanford University (August 15, 2018)
- Communicating Your Best Self in the Job Application Process - CLASS Academy, Stanford University (August 7, 2017)
- Getting Off on the Right Foot: Expanding Orientation to Enhance Student Learning - National Association of Graduate Admissions Professionals (NAGAP) (April 9, 2015)
- Admit System: Beyond the Basics for Admitting Department Users - CollegeNET User Conference (7/22/2014)