

Stanford

Alistair Aaronson, MD, MHA, FACP

Adjunct Clinical Assistant Professor, Medicine

Bio

BIO

Courses Taught through SHIELD (Stanford Healthcare Innovations and Experiential Learning Directive):

A Patient Centered Exploration of Health and the Health Care System

INDE 290B, INDE 290C, PAS 280B, PAS 280C

This elective course for first year medical students explores challenges that patients face regarding the management of optimal health in a complex health care system. Specific topics include national healthcare reform, health economics and financing, social determinants of health, medication reconciliation, transitions of care, and the hospital discharge process.