Naola S. Austin M.D., is a Clinical Assistant Professor in the Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine at Stanford University and the Veterans Affairs Palo Alto Health Care System. She is teaching faculty at the Center for Immersive and Simulation-based Learning, OB SIM Team, and VA Palo Alto.

She is originally from Santa Fe, NM and received her medical degree at Weill Cornell Medical College in New York, NY. After completing residency training in Anesthesiology at the University of Washington, she went on to dual fellowship training in Obstetric Anesthesia and Healthcare Simulation.

In addition to her work as a Co-Primary Investigator with the Safety Learning Lab, she has published basic science articles on synapse biology, clinical reviews on cervical spine injury in trauma and burns, and Simulation and Communication in Obstetric care. She has received multiple honors including U.S.-E.U. Exchange Scholar Rogers' Colloquium Speaker, Resident of the Year, and Foundation for Anesthesia Education & Research Scholar.

Naola is an avid gardener, leisure cyclist, and very amateur rock climber.

CLINICAL FOCUS

- Anesthesia

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Clinical Assistant Professor, Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

- Fellowship: Stanford University Anesthesiology Fellowships (2014) CA
- Residency: University of Washington Dept of Anesthesiology (2013) WA
- Board Certification: Anesthesia, American Board of Anesthesiology (2014)
- Medical Education: Weill Cornell Medical College (2009) NY
