

Stanford

Cristian Javier Santesteban

Lecturer

Economics

Bio

BIO

Cristian is an applied industrial organization and antitrust economist with extensive experience across many industries, including semiconductors (CPUs, DRAM), telecom/media (cable TV, wireless phone, satellite TV), commodities (polyurethane foam, flat glass, natural gas, LCDs), food products (milk, mushrooms, tuna fish, soft drinks), medical devices (pulse oximeters, sharps containers), finance (LIBOR, Euribor, Silver Futures), internet marketing, and college sports. He is a Lecturer in the Department of Economics and the President of Red Peak Economics Consulting.

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Lecturer, Economics

Teaching

COURSES

2021-22

- Economic Policy Seminar: ECON 101 (Aut)

2020-21

- Economic Policy Seminar: ECON 101 (Win)

2018-19

- Economic Policy Seminar: ECON 101 (Spr)