

Stanford

---

Jessica Pullen

- MD Student with Scholarly Concentration in Biomedical Ethics & Medical Humanities, expected graduation Spring 2025
- Masters Student in Environment and Resources, admitted Autumn 2020

Bio

---

BIO

Future health professional dedicated to improving human and planetary health

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Gold Humanism Honor Society, Stanford School of Medicine (2019)
- Prize in Excellence Award for Research, Brandeis University (2013)
- National Science Foundation Undergraduate Fellow (NSF REU), Brandeis University (2012)

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- Bachelor of Science, Brandeis University , Biology (2013)
- EMT-B, Brandeis University (2011)
- Wilderness First Aid certified, Stanford School of Medicine (2016)

Publications

---

PUBLICATIONS

- Ligand-induced activation of a formin-NPF pair leads to collaborative actin nucleation. The Journal of cell biology
Graziano, B. R., Jonasson, E. M., Pullen, J. G., Gould, C. J., Goode, B. L.
2013; 201 (4): 595-611