

Carley Jaskulski

Director of Prevention Education for Students, SHARE Education

Bio

BIO

Carley Jaskulski is the Director of Prevention Education for Students in the Sexual Harassment/Assault Response & Education (SHARE) Title IX Office at Stanford.

A first-generation college student, Carley has Master's degrees in public health and social work from the University of Michigan. Along with the rest of the education team at the SHARE Title IX Office, Carley coordinates the comprehensive prevention education approach to sexual and relationship violence on our campus.

Additionally, Carley provides consultations about options and resources, coordinates holistic healing programs, and facilitates outreach to engage students across the Stanford community. With a focus on prevention education, intervention, and outreach, the education team in the SHARE Title IX Office collaborates with all members of the campus community to increase awareness and promote a culture of safety and respect.