

George Mark Freeman MD PhD

- Clinical Associate Professor (Affiliated), Psych/General Psychiatry and Psychology (Adult)
- Staff, Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences

Bio

BIO

Dr. Freeman serves as the Site Director for Stanford Psychiatry Residency Training at VA Palo Alto Hospital. His interests include caring for patients with complex mental health conditions, providing medical education to Stanford trainees, and remaining up to date on the latest in neuroscience advances.

EDUCATION

B.S. Biology (Neuroscience), Duke University

M.D. Medical Scientist Training Program, Washington University in St Louis

Ph.D. In Biological and Biomedical Sciences (Neuroscience), Washington University in St Louis

RESIDENCY TRAINING

Psychiatry Residency (Research Track), Stanford University School of Medicine, Stanford, CA

LICENSURE AND CERTIFICATION

Diplomate, General Psychiatry, American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology

Physician and Surgeon Medical License, California

SELECTED SCHOLARSHIPS AND HONORS

National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) Outstanding Resident Award

James L. O'Leary Prize for Research in Neuroscience Finalist

Ruth L Kirschstein National Research Service Award

United States Fulbright Scholar