

DUANA FULLWILEY

CURRICULUM VITAE

RESEARCH

Based on multi-sited ethnography, my work examines how global and historical effects of health, disease, race, and power yield biological consequences that bear on present definitions of human difference. My geographical areas of interest include France, Senegal, and the United States.

EDUCATION

Ph.D. Medical Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley and UC San Francisco 2002
M.A. Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley 1997
B.A. Social Sciences Field Major, University of California, Berkley 1994

POSTS

2012- present Associate Professor of Anthropology, Stanford University
2011-2012 Associate Professor of Anthropology, Harvard University
2007-2011 Assistant Professor of Anthropology and African and African-American Studies, Harvard University
2005-2007 Robert Wood Johnson Health and Society Postdoctoral Fellow, Harvard School of Public Health and Department of History of Science
2003-2005 National Science Foundation Postdoctoral Research Fellow, New York University, Department of Anthropology

FELLOWSHIPS AND AWARDS

2019-2020 Selected, Institute for Research in the Social Sciences Faculty Fellow, Stanford University.
2015-2018 Appointed, Stanford Program in Science and Technology Studies Distinguished Faculty Fellow
2013-2014 Selected, Stanford Humanities Center Fellowship (declined)
2009-2012 National Science Foundation, Scholars Award (Science & Society Section)
2008-2009 Africa Initiative Faculty Grant, Harvard University
2006-2007 Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, seed grant
2005-2007 Robert Wood Johnson Health and Society Scholar, Harvard University
2004-2005 The Institute for Advanced Study, Member, Princeton, New Jersey
2003-2004 National Science Foundation Minority Postdoctoral Research Fellowship
2002-2003 UC Irvine Andrew and Florence White Fellow in Humanities and Medicine
2001-2002 Ford Foundation Doctoral Fellow (National Academies of Science)
2001-2002 UC Berkeley Townsend Center for the Humanities Dissertation Fellow
2001-2002 Ecole Normale Supérieure Research Fellow
2000-2001 Social Science Research Council IDRF Fellow
2000-2001 Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research small grant
1999-2000 USIA Fulbright Scholar to Senegal
1999-2000 National Science Foundation Dissertation Grant (STS)
1999-2000 UC Berkeley Rocca Scholar for Advanced African Studies
1996-1999 National Science Foundation Graduate Fellow
1997-1998 UC Berkeley Bloc Research Grant for fieldwork in Paris
1996-1997 Selected, Andrew W. Mellon Fellowship in Humanistic Studies (declined)
1996-1999 Selected, Ford Foundation Pre-dissertation Fellowship (declined)

HONORS AND PRIZES

2014 Awarded The American Anthropological Association's Robert B. Textor and Family Prize for Excellence in Anticipatory Anthropology for The Enculturated Gene: Sickle Cell Health Politics and Biological Difference in West Africa (2011).

2013 Awarded The Royal Anthropological Institute's Amaury Talbot Prize for Most Valuable Work of African Anthropology for The Enculturated Gene: Sickle Cell Health Politics and Biological Difference in West Africa (2011).

2013 Granted The American Anthropological Association, General Anthropology Division (GAD) Award for Exemplary Cross Disciplinary Research (Honorable Mention).

1994 UC Berkeley McNair Scholar (first-generation college student)

1994 Graduated summa cum laude (BA)

1994 Elected, Phi Beta Kappa National Honors Society

1994, 1996-1998 Louise Patterson Academic Achievement Award

SELECT PAPER PRESENTATIONS

“Addicted to Ancestry?: Scientific Belonging, Data Sharing, and Mapping Minority (Health) Risk.” Paper for a double panel titled Conceiving a Generous Anthropology: Honoring the Work of Rayna Rapp, co-organized by Duana Fullwiley and Erin Koch. The American Anthropological Association annual meeting. Minneapolis, MN. November 17, 2016.

“Engaging Scientists on Race in Genetic Research: Refusing to ‘Watch the Parade from the Sidewalk.’” A Conference Celebrating the Life and Work of Troy Duster. Co-organized by Duana Fullwiley and Osagie Obasogie. University of California, Berkeley. August 15, 2014.

“So, My Cancer Came From Africa?’ How Ancestry Genetics in Medical Research Shapes Ideas about Causality and Disease Risk.” Paper for a panel on How the Scientific Act of Establishing Biological Causation Might Solidify the Construction of ‘Race, organized by Duana Fullwiley. 4s, Society for Social Studies of Science. San Diego, CA October 12, 2013.

“The Dream of Big Data: Personal Genomes and Open Science” Paper for an Invited Session (Society for Medical Anthropology) on Big Data in Big Biomedicine: Mining and Meanings for Healthcare, co-organized by Linda Hogle and Rayna Rapp. The American Anthropological Association annual meeting. Chicago. November 21, 2013.

“Contemporary Ethnos and Scientific Inclusion: Confronting Modern Forms of Race in Census-Based Genetics.” Paper for a double panel, Onwards: Honoring the work of Paul Rabinow, co-

organized by Mary Murrell and Tobias Rees. American Anthropological annual meeting, November 15, 2012. San Francisco, CA

“Ethnography of Science meets Critical Race Theory: Biological Constructions of Difference.” Critical Race Theory and Empirical Methods Public Symposium and Third Working Group Meeting, co-organized by Mario Barnes and Osagie Obasogie. University of California, Irvine School of the Law. April 20 and 21, 2012

“Biological ‘Outcomes’ and Genetic Orders: Tracing the ‘Roots’ of Senegalese Sickle Cell Health through Tangled Informal Economies.” Knowledge, Domination and the Public in Africa, organized by Richard Rottenburg, Max Plank Institute for Social Anthropology, and Sandra Greene, Cornell University, Department of History. The 101st Dahlem Konferenzen, Freie Universität, Berlin. March 21, 2011.

“Biological Futures and the Balance of Health and ‘Crisis’ for Sickle Cell Disease Politics in Senegal.” Paper for an Invited Session (the Society for Cultural Anthropology and the Society for Africanist Anthropology) on African Futures in Crisis, co-organized by Charles Piot and Brian Goldstone. The American Anthropological Association annual meeting. New Orleans, Louisiana, November 19, 2010.

“The Enculturated Gene: Sickle Cell Health Politics and Biological Difference in West Africa.” Medical Anthropology in Global Africa Conference, organized by The Kansas African Studies Center. University of Kansas, September 16-18, 2010.

“The Powers of Genetic Associations and Enculturated Genes.” Paper presented at the Embodiments of Science conference/workshop. Organizers: Nadia Abu El-Haj, Elizabeth Povinelli and Rebecca Young. Barnard College and Columbia University. November 6-7, 2009.

“Ancestral chromosomes and the New Politics of Proportioning Race and Risk in the U.S. Today.” Paper presented for Les catégories de sexe et de race dans les sciences biomédicales contemporaines colloquium. UFR de Philosophie, Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne. May 29, 2009.

“Ancestral Chromosomes and the New Politics of Proportioning Race and Risk in the U.S. Today.” Paper presented for International Symposium on Human Genomic Diversity and Biomedical Practice, BIOS Centre, London School of Economics. March 27, 2009.

“Mild’ Sickle Cell Disease in Dakar: Biology, Economy, and Medical Genetics.” Paper for an Invited Session, (the Society for Medical Anthropology) on Bodies and Economies: Ethnographies of Value in Biomedicine and Global Health, organized by João Biehl, Elizabeth F.S. Roberts, and Harris Solomon. American Anthropological Association annual meeting, Washington DC, November 30, 2007.

“Environments of Human Practice on the Future of Race Thinking.” Paper presented at Genome Canada, Quebec City, October 18, 2007

“Associative Networks: Family, Genetics, and Social Support for Sickle Cell Patients in the Southern Hemisphere.” Paper presented at the 3rd International Congress of the RFLD (Réseau Francophone de Lutte contre la Drépanocytose [Francophone Network for the Fight against Sickle Cell Disease.]) Dakar, Senegal, November 2006.

“The Biological Construction of Race.” Paper for an Invited Session (the Society for Cultural Anthropology) on The Molecularization of Race and Identity, organized by Duana Fullwiley. American Anthropological Association annual meeting. Washington DC, December 1, 2005.

“Localized Biologies: French Geo-Genetic Typing and the Political Bounds of Disease Nomenclature.” Paper presented for a panel organized by Helen Tilley and Nancy Rose Hunt on Ethnographic Turns and Cognitive Dissonance: Exploring Science, Magic, Healing, and Race, African Studies Association annual meeting. Washington DC, November 2005.

“Capacities and Powers: Concepts of Genetic Screening from Oakland to Dakar (via Paris).” Paper presented at the 2nd International Congress of the RFLD (Réseau Francophone de Lutte contre la Drépanocytose [Francophone Network for the Fight against Sickle Cell Disease.]) Cotonou, Benin, West Africa. January 21, 2004.

“Rationales of Tailored Medicine: Race and Pharmacy in the Post-Genomic Age.” Paper presented for a panel on Pharmaco-ontologies: Newer Definitions of Human and Drug Specificity, organized by Duana Fullwiley. American Anthropological Association annual meeting. Chicago, IL, November 2003.

“Sickle Cell Science in Dakar: Vitalism via Optimism in the Arboreal (pharmacopoeia).” Paper presented for a panel on Afro-Empiricities/Afro-theoria, organized by Mariane Ferme and Janet Roitman. African Studies Association annual meeting. Boston, MA, October 2003.

“Reflections on ‘Population’ as ‘Race’ in Rational Therapeutics (Pharmacogenomics.)” Paper Presented at the National Academies, Ford Fellows Conference. San Juan, Puerto Rico, October 2003.

FIELDWORK EXPERIENCE

Postdoctoral Research 5/06-present

Location: Dakar, Senegal. Research: fieldwork exploring the “illness of sickle cell trait” in Senegalese patients. This condition, which is understood as a “benign carrier status” in the American medical literature, is experienced as a less severe form of sickle cell disease in Dakar, Senegal. This fieldwork explores the literal embodiment of genetic knowledge, its symptoms and consequences for local medical practice.

Postdoctoral Research 01/03-present

Location: United States. Research: fieldwork on scientists developing pharmacogenomics, personalized genomes, and genetic technologies with implications for concepts of race in drug therapy, disease risk, and ancestral identity testing. Principle sites: American academic, basic science research laboratories.

Dissertation Fieldwork 09/99-8/00; 11/00-03/01

Location: Dakar, Senegal, West Africa. Research: fieldwork on sickle cell anemia science, as it is reworked by Senegalese biomedical researchers, patients, families, patient advocacy groups and specialized herbalists who provide plant remedies for the disease.

Dissertation Fieldwork 06/97-1/98; 08/00-11/00; 01/02-06/02

Location: Paris, France. Research: fieldwork on sickle cell anemia scientific collaborations between Senegalese and French medical geneticists, as well as multi-sited clinic, hospital, and community-based participant observation with sickle cell patients, families, and patient advocacy organizations.

EARLY CAREER RESEARCH ASSISTANTSHIPS

Research Assistant, 10/95-10/96

Dept. of Medical Anthropology, University of California, San Francisco (UCSF) and Stanford Center for Biomedical Ethics (SCBE), Palo Alto, CA

Job tasks: on Dr. Barbara Koenig's NIH and Open Society funded "Death and Dying in the African-American Community," I conducted fieldwork at San Francisco General and Oakland Highland Hospitals, hospices, and peoples' homes to learn how African-Americans who have terminal disease make end of life choices.

Junior Research Specialist, 09/94-01/96

Institute for the Study of Social Change, Berkeley CA

Job tasks: on Dr. Troy Duster's DOE funded, "Pathways to Genetic Screening" I worked as a principle sickle cell fieldworker in Oakland hospitals to see how people engaged with health professionals' offers for genetic testing.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Participant, joint workshop held by the National Institutes of Health (NIH), The National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI), the National Center for Minority Health and Health Disparities (NCMHD) and the National Cancer Institute (NCI) "Understanding the Role of Genomics in Health Disparities: Toward a New Research Agenda." Purpose: to inform guidelines for new RFAs. September 24-26, 2008. University of Maryland, Adelphi.

Participant, workshop held by the National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI) to determine the ethical, legal, and social issues (ELSI) raised by research on natural selection in humans, with a focus on the scientific design and responsible interpretation of genomic research in human groups, especially in Africa. October 28, 2008. Purpose: to inform guidelines for new RFA's. NIH Conference Center, Rockville, Maryland.

Advisor, Radiolab (WNYC www.radiolab.org). Radiolab is a National Public Radio program focused on the bigger ideas and stories in science. I have served as an advisor as of November 2009. In this capacity, I provide feedback on story ideas for areas of research on race, genetics, human variation and ethics.

Workshop leader, Ethnographies of Science and Problematics of Human Difference, The Society for Cultural Anthropology Faculty-Student Luncheon workshop. These invited workshops, based on relevant research themes determined by chosen AAA members, are intended to provide an informal setting where PhD students can discuss their work with faculty members outside of their universities. November 14, 2012.

Participant, roundtable workshop sponsored by the American Society of Human Genetics, the National Genome Research Institute, and the Duke Institute for Genome Sciences & Policy to draft consensus statements and eventual guidelines for genetic ancestry inference testing. Purpose: to improve scientific rigor, to facilitate transparency and accountability of scientists and companies involved; to mitigate the negative effects of genetic ancestry inference and information. Washington DC, September 10-11, 2013 and Durham, NC May 19-21, 2015.

Panel Reviewer, National Science Foundation, Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBE) / Science, Technology and Society (STS) Program.

Executive Board Member, Interdepartmental Program in Science and Technology Studies, Stanford University, 2012-2013; 2015-present.

Board Member, Center for African Studies, Stanford University, 2013-14; 2018

Trustee of the Board, Association of Members, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton New Jersey, 2014-2018

Advisory Panel Member/ Award Selection Committee, Robert B. Textor and Family Prize for Excellence in Anticipatory Anthropology, The American Anthropological Association. Arlington, VA, 2015-2018.

SELECT ANTHROPOLOGY DEPARTMENT COMMITTEES

2015-2016 Search committee: Recruitment of candidate for Asian American Studies, CSRE, and environmental anthropology specializations.

2016-2018 Chair of the Ad-hoc committee on Environmental Anthropology, website redesign, curriculum assessment, faculty cluster designation, workshop organizer and guest speaker invitations within the cluster. 2016-2018

2017-2017 Search committee: Muslim societies search committee joint with the Abbasi Program

2016-2018 Departmental liaison for the Stanford Center for Biomedical Ethics, National Genomic Research Institutes Center for Excellence Grant "Stanford Training Program in Ethical Legal and Social Implications (ELSI) of Genetic Research."
