DIGITAL HUMANITIES PROJECTS

Poetic Media Lab

From the fall of 2013, I am the Principle Investigator in the Poetic Media Lab. Poetic Media is a multi-media research and teaching project housed at Stanford's Center for Spatial and Textual Analysis (CESTA). Since 2013 the lab has been funded through Stanford's CESTA, the office of the dean, Stanford's School of Humanities and Sciences, Vice Provost for Online Learning, Center for Spatial and Textual Analysis and, and The Roberta Bowman Denning Initiative in the Digital Humanities.

The Contemporary

From the fall of 2013, I am directing a Stanford- and a web-based research group, The Contemporary. The group is comprised of Stanford faculty and graduate students, across a variety of disciplines. It examines the contemporary as a concept with a focus on defining historical moments such as 1945, 1973, 1989, and 2001.
