

Short CV, Ernesto Domínguez López (2024)

PhD in Historical Sciences (2011), Master in Contemporary History (2008) and BA in History (2006) from the University of Havana, all degrees awarded summa cum laude. Studied Nuclear Physics (1995-2000). Full Professor at the Center for Hemispheric and United Studies (CEHSEU), University of Havana (since 2012). Former Department Chair (2008-2010) and researcher (2006-2008) at the Center for European Studies.

Visiting professor, visiting scholar and visiting lecturer at several universities and academic institutions in Cuba, United States, Colombia, Argentina, France, United Kingdom, Belgium, Spain, Finland, Hungary, Greece, Poland and Germany. He has 76 articles and chapters published or accepted in academic journals and books edited in Cuba, Mexico, Argentina, Colombia, United States, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Netherlands, United Kingdom and France. He has authored or co-authored 3 books and co-edited other 6, published or forthcoming in Cuba, Switzerland, Greece and México. He has delivered or co-authored 85 papers presented at scientific conferences, colloquia and congresses in Cuba, Argentina, Germany, United Kingdom, Spain, Finland, Ghana, China, Colombia, Mexico, and the United States.

Referee in academic journals published in Cuba, France, Ecuador, Italy, Germany and United Kingdom. Member of the Professor in Doctoral Programs in Historical Sciences and Political Sciences of the University of Havana, and International Relations of the Higher Institute of International Relations. Creator and coordinator of the Master Program in US Studies and Hemispheric Geopolitics (CEHSEU, since 2017). Member of the Scientific Council of the University of Havana (since 2015). Former member of the National Doctoral Tribunals in Political Sciences (2013-2022), Historical Sciences (2018-2022) and Philosophical Sciences (2018-2022) (This structure was abolished in 2022). Former member of the Directive Board of the Cathedrae for the Study of Complexity (2010-2015) and the Commission for Scientific Degrees of the University of Havana (2015-2020).

His research interests include the study of post-industrial (knowledge) capitalism, US political system and processes, Cuba-US relations, international relations, political theory and theory of history. He has taught undergraduate and graduate level courses on subjects like Cuban history, Cuban foreign policy, Cuba-US relations, research methodology in social sciences, research methodology in non-linear systems, contemporary history, political economy, political sciences, US politics, international migrations, history of social sciences, history of systems of thinking, and theory of history.